Which file format do I use?

Take these marks and make them your own! Show them on t-shirts, jerseys, signs, social media, websites, and anywhere you want to display your Paceline pride.

You can use any of these marks for your personal fundraising efforts.

We ask you simply follow these guidelines, which will help ensure the Paceline brand stays consistent, legible, and strong.

For Print Production

t-shirts, signs, flyers, jerseys, etc.

EPS

An EPS file is a 'vector' of a graphic. This file type can be scaled up in size without any loss of quality, so it is the recommended format for printed purposes. An EPS file can only be opened in Adobe Illustrator and Photoshop.

---

COLOR TYPE

CMYK (Cyan / Magenta / Yellow / Black)

The standard colors used in 4-color digital printing.

RESOLUTION

The suggested minimum resolution for images/raster graphics being printed is 300dpi at the final size (100 percent).

For Digital Applications

websites / printing when the art is small

RASTER

Raster images are comprised of pixels; they lose resolution when scaled large.

JPEG / PNG

A JPEG is a raster image often used for online images. A JPEG can't have a transparent background, so they are always in the shape of a rectangle with a solid background.

PNG files are like JPEGs, but they can retain a transparent background.

It is important to make sure the resolution of a JPEG or PNG file is of high enough quality to be used for print production. (300dpi or higher)

---

COLOR TYPE

RGB (Red / Green / Blue)

Online/digital colors used for computer monitors and electronics.

---

RESOLUTION

Digital images are displayed at 72ppi. That means images saved for web viewing are typically unsuitable for printing.
